Flow Affair is a LGBT Historic Art Film about the American Flag, Fan and Floguing dance community, capturing the passing down of a thirty year old New York City Greenwich Village dance tradition.

The Fan dance has its roots in China and is a 5000 year old tradition. It was westernized in the late 1970's at the New York City gay leather bars. It evolved into a flag & fan dance in the NYC east village disco scene and peeked in the early 80's on the east coast at the disco Flamingo and the Saint, and at the Trocadero Transfer in San Francisco. Unfortunately its exact origin is lost, due to the AIDS epidemic.

Flow Affair is featuring The Colors of the Wind, a traditional all female straight Chinese fan dance group; the Red Lion, a Japanese Trance Dance by, Art by Davey; the NYC club scene flaggers and fanners Mike, Bert, Mark, Nelia, flagging teacher George Jagatic, co-founder with Brad Carpenter of Axis Danz who appeared in the Mariah Carey music video "Loverboy".

Felipe came from Brazil to NYC for an internship, and took the flag dance back to Brazil, Jeannette's twelve year old son Ryche, reveals his mom's secret as to why they call her the angry lesbian.

Xavier from San Francisco is the leading force on the west coast today and is serving the community since the 90's. He teaches flagging and tie-dye classes & produces Fundraising events for the local community.

Mykel is a theatrical performance and recording artist. He is the artistic director of NYC Flaggers; and Frank flags for therapeutic reasons.

Director Wolfgang Busch brought the flagging and voguing community together in 2006, and is now introducing the new dance, Floguing in Flow Affair.

Aaron Enigma is the god-father of Floguing. Javier Ninja & Renaldo Milan are all from the Harlem House Ball Voguing community. They are the front runners of the new dance "Floguing", combining fans, flags, fabric, and voguing.
